SERIOUS PLANS FOR A FOUR TEAM BASEBALL LEAGUE

Albuquerque, Old Albuquerque, Santa Fe and Belen Likely to go into Combination.

PLENTY OF MATERIAL FOR GOOD LOCAL BALL

Discussion of the possibility of forming a four-team baseball league has led to something like solid bases for a suggestion that promises to lead to a royal fight for the game-hungry fans of the city.

It has been suggested that a league formed of the Happy's, the Old Albuquerque Browns, Belen and a Santa Fe team would not only afford a rattling run of sport, but would pay its way, and might even make a bit of money.

So weighty an authority as Tom Naylor, manager of the Happy's, and possibly the best posted man on baseball here, said that he would like to see a proposition when the suggestion was held up for his inspection.

There is to be a team in Santa Fe this year. The club, composed of the veterans of last year's nine for the most part, will play under the name of the Federals.

The Happy's and the Browns are said to be ready to join, and both of them have veteran players to carry them off to a strong start and hold them in the race.
